This license confirms the following:

1. You may use the materials, artwork, videos, handouts, and other content as well as the website for the purposes of one on one coaching between you and a family. You do not have permission to disseminate the materials in classes, groups, or on the web. The material is for you to use in personal coaching sessions only.
2. You are functioning as an independent coach with an affiliation to the National Center for Biblical Parenting. You are not employed by, insured by, or in any legal way connected to or representing the National Center for Biblical Parenting.
3. Any opinions or advice given to parents are your own and don't represent in any way a legal connection to the National Center for Biblical Parenting. You hold harmless the National Center for Biblical Parenting from any liability from your interaction with any parent. You will make that clear to parents by having them fill out the Coaching Agreement Form.
4. You may refer to yourself as a "Biblical Parenting Coach trained by the National Center for Biblical Parenting. " You may use that title and description on printed material such as business cards and brochures, both physical and electronic.
5. Should, at any time, your views or advice be perceived by the National Center for Biblical Parenting as incompatible or inconsistent with their beliefs or practices, any formal relationship can be severed, and any privileges revoked.
6. You may charge for your services, but you are not functioning as an employee of the National Center for Biblical Parenting. You are an independent contractor. It is your responsibility to report to the IRS any profits or compensation you receive.

I have read and agree with the requirements and provisions in this license.
