What You Can Expect •••••

Session #1: Teaching Kids to Listen and Follow Instructions

Parents often become frustrated because their kids don't listen. In this session we take apart the instruction process and point out five steps for children ages 2 to 18. Parents learn how to teach cooperation and responsibility in this practical session.

Session #2: Correction Ideas that Touch the Heart

The goal of discipline is a changed heart. This session gives parents several hands-on tools to use when children need to be corrected. A change of heart is defined in practical terms and parents go away with a plan to use seven categories of consequences to motivate heart change in their kids. The underlying principle taught is that behavior modification is not enough. Parents must keep an eye on the heart.

Session #3: Ending Discipline Times with Impact

Parents often don't know how to end discipline in a constructive way. This session explains a routine for helping children process correction and learn from the experience. Teaching children about repentance and forgiveness are heart gifts discussed here. This tool is especially helpful for children who blame others or have a victim mentality.

About Dr. Jim Dempsey •••••

Dr. Jim Dempsey and his wife Gail have three grown daughters and four grandkids. Jim is the Associate Pastor to Families at Anderson Mill Baptist Church in Austin. He serves part-time there in order to also spend time in parenting ministry. Jim records two radio programs for different radio stations each week (KSLR in San Antonio and LOTOradio.com in Lake of the Ozarks Missouri.) Each program is called "Parenting Unchained," which is the name of a book he wrote published by the National Center for Biblical Parenting. Jim has been a presenter for the National Center for Biblical Parenting for several years and loves to equip parents.
